

U.S. Labor Party Hits Election Fraud Against Its Candidates

Hartford GOP: "LP was Frauded"

by Molly Kronberg

Nov. 11 (NSIPS) — "I'd like to say something about the U.S. Labor Party. Labor Party candidates, with whom I don't necessarily agree, ran the best campaigns in this election. They defined the issues and solutions to problems consistently, articulately, and intelligently. Their candidates were the best qualified in the race; they should have been elected; and they all were the victims of vote fraud."

This was the substance of a statement yesterday to the Hartford press corps by Republican Party City Chairman Cardwell at a press conference sponsored by the Hartford Republican Party and the city's Spanish Reform Democratic Club. Cardwell added that the Republican Party of Hartford is ready to work with anyone to clean up elections, and to collaborate on programmatic issues, especially issues of economic development, such as those put forward by the Labor Party mayoral candidate Donna McDonough and her city council runningmates Ian Levitt and Herbert Quinde.

On Nov. 8, U.S. Labor Party candidates in local races where vote fraud machines were not in place received between 7.5 and 32.5 percent of the vote, while USLP candidates across New York State and New Jersey were defrauded so overtly that the party's legal staff is now making preparations to target the metropolitan area around New York for in-depth investigations and prosecution of those responsible for Vice President Walter Mondale's "No man, One Vote" election-stealing operations.

The Hartford Story

In Hartford yesterday, Jose Garay, defeated GOP candidate for City Council, and Spanish Reform Dem head Mendez, sharing a podium with the USLP's Quinde, reviewed for the press the evidence in their possession pointing to extensive irregularities in the Nov. 8 Hartford balloting which resulted in a 15,000 vote win for Democratic incumbent Anthanson, and a ridiculous count of 517 for the USLP's McDonough. The irregularities included voters voting under assumed names and the voting of people who have been dead for two years or more. A second defeated GOP councilman candidate, a systems analyst, reported on precinct-by-precinct vote studies which showed that the vote ratios were identical in every precinct — a result considered to be next to impossible.

USLP'er Quinde's proposal, accepted by the gathering, was the formation of a coalition against vote fraud whose first task is to introduce into the state legislature the National Coalition of Independents on Issues' proposed Vote Standards Act, and to examine the results of Tuesday's elections with a view to legal action and criminal prosecution.

When a Hartford Courant reporter asked incredulously, "Have I got this straight? Can I report that the Republican Party of Hartford has officially endorsed the programs and principles of the U.S. Labor Party?" Quinde said "Look — the issue is development. Let's make it clear what an endorsement of the Labor Party means — it means endorsing the tradition of the Federalists, of Lincoln. It means endorsing advancing technology as the basis for our country's existence. If you're asking if the Republicans support these principles, you're darn right they do." The Republicans nodded.

GOP Councilwoman Margaret Tedone has tentatively agreed to organize fellow city councilmen to introduce the Vote Standards Act into the state legislature as a recommendation from Hartford's city government.

Fabians Sweep Rochester, Syracuse

A review of Labor Party and other results in upstate New York confirms the necessity for candidates — Republican, Democrat, and independent — to ally with the U.S. Labor Party as the only course which can ensure the victory of programs of industrial development. Exactly that happened in Buffalo, where Conservative mayoral candidate Jim Griffin, a Democratic State Senator, won a stunning upset victory over Mondale protégé Arthur Eve only because Griffin allied himself publicly and consistently with the industrial programs put forward by USLP candidate Khushro Ghandhi and with the anti-vote-fraud efforts Ghandhi set into motion there. In the aftermath of that race, Buffalo Conservative Party Chairman George Vossler is considering placing a referendum on the New York State ballot to repeal postcard registration in this fraud-ridden state.

In other areas of upstate New York, particularly Rochester and Syracuse, where politicians lacked Griffin's good sense, zero-growth Democrats of the Mondale stripe swept into office. Rochester was carried by Democrats for the first time in 43 years. A few individual Republicans, who took the Labor Party's advice on protecting the elections, are undoubtedly very glad they did so. Republican Lasek, running for the Monroe County legislature from Rochester, brought his staff into inner-city districts to oversee the vote. His pollwatchers turned away 250 would-be fraudulent voters, and Lasek carried the Hispanic district, and won the seat.
